Guest of Honour

Chloe Oswald

Chocolatier and Founder of Chocolatia

We're very proud of our alumna Chloe Oswald. Since graduating from City of Glasgow College, Chloe – who studied Professional Patisserie – has gone from strength to strength.

After refining her pastry skills for several years under the expert eye of the chefs in the two Michelin-starred Restaurant Andrew Fairlie at Gleneagles Hotel, Chloe embarked on a successful journey to founding her own luxury chocolate brand, Chocolatia.

Both of Chloe's grandmothers taught her all the basics of baking and she often thinks back to the days they would spend together in the kitchen, cooking and laughing, when she is developing a new creation or recipe.

Chloe founded Chocolatia as a way of expressing her personality through her work and is grateful for the support of her friends, family, colleagues, and suppliers.

From those early memories in her grandmother's kitchen and her days studying professional Patisserie at City of Glasgow College to her life-changing opportunity at Gleneagles, where she represented the UK in global culinary competitions, creating bespoke chocolate room gifts, and built show-stopping chocolate sculptures for events like the Solheim Cup, Chloe was delighted to introduce people to her very own brand, Chocolatia. Chloe says Chocolatia is one part passion, one part knowledge, two parts hard work, all mixed together with a generous dollop of love.

Chloe's chocolates are designed to be absolutely devoured, either with a cup of tea, a dram of whisky, a glass of champagne, or shared with someone special over a kiss and a cuddle.
